An evidence-informed, statewide program designed to support early learning professionals working with children from birth to age eight. This "warm line" connects licensed early education programs and family childcare sites with Infant and Early Childhood Mental Health (IECMH) Consultative Services. This preventative program aims to build capacity around children's social, emotional, and behavioral health and connects programs with resources before children are at risk of suspension or expulsion. Support is provided within 48 hours of request and includes classroom observations, resource sharing, coaching, professional development, and referrals to additional services as needed.
